Finish, Quality and Sizing Guide

Quality Guide

- 1 Represents premium quality products which have been manufactured to the highest standards in a quality controlled and certified environment. These products are typically of European origin and have been manufactured, finished and packaged using the latest technology. These are equal in quality to most branded products.
- 2 Represents medium quality products which have been made with precision tools and processes. They are generally European/Chinese products which have been made by hot stamping, pressure die-casting and have high-quality finishes.
- 3 Represents entry level products which are generally sourced from India and the Far East. These products are cost-effective volume produced goods that are hand-made by traditional processes. These products are typically gravity cast products and cold stamped steel products. They are hand finished.

Finish Maintenance Guide

Care of Brass Products – Solid Brass Door hardware products are coated with a protective lacquer which prevents the brass from tarnishing under normal conditions. Products fitted externally, or in an environment where chemical agents may be present, will tarnish much quicker as the lacquer breaks down. For these reasons the life of lacquer can vary and cannot therefore be guaranteed. To prevent tarnishing, we recommend cleaning brass products with soapy water, or wiping them with a soft cloth with beeswax. If the product starts to tarnish, we recommend that the lacquer is fully removed using Nitromores. Once the lacquer is removed, wipe any residue away, and use brasso of similar to restore the finish. The surface can either be re lacquered or maintained with Brasso.

All other finishes – For all other hardware finishes, we recommend periodic cleaning with a soft damp cloth to remove surface deposits. Adding a wax polish after cleaning will help to maintain the appearance and protect the surface from corrosive deposits.
